

Party at the Barn

The 'Party at the Barn' was a social event designed to welcome clients and friends to have a look at the new office premises of Paul McAlister Architects Ltd. in a renovated farmyard barn at Drumnacanvey Road in Portadown. The demand for housing has been a major source of work for the practice, currently responsible for the design and planning approval of hundreds of homes throughout the North and South of Ireland, specialising in 'one off' houses with the ability to design both interior and exteriors to meet the particular client requirements.
